

MEMO TO: THE HONORABLE MARK SANFORD, Governor of South Carolina, to the Honorable Members of the General Assembly, and the citizens of South Carolina

The 2004 Legislative Session provided public libraries and the South Carolina State Library with additional funds from the Education Lottery. FY05 Education Lottery funds were increased from $1.5 million to $3 million. An additional $2.3 million was appropriated from FY04 Education Lottery funds. Public libraries were given the flexibility to expend up to 50% of these funds for library materials. The State Library was also allowed to expend up to $100,000 for its technological needs.

The State Library also received some key increases in General Fund revenues. It received $200,000 for library materials and $15,000 to convert its in-house analog recording booth to a digital format. The in-house recording program produces audio materials for citizens with blindness and other disabilities.

In order to maintain its programs at close to existing levels, the agency transferred its Talking Book Services program entirely to federal funds. Without General Fund increases in other key areas, the State Library continued to operate with a shortage of funds and staff to implement programs.

Despite these limitations, the State Library continued to provide a high level of service to its constituents.

Highlights of the year's accomplishments include:

- ♦ Continued to enhance and support DISCUS—South Carolina's Virtual Library, with a special focus on improving access for K-12 users. DISCUS usage increased by 11% over the previous FY. Use by K-12 students and teachers grew 50%. Without DISCUS, schools and libraries would have to spend over $24 million for these resources.
- ♦ Successfully recruited staff for the positions of procurement specialist, information resources consultant, reference librarian, and finance and business operations director.
- ♦ Developed and implemented plans to successfully meet state mandated budget reductions.
- ♦ Completed a successful four months migration to the Sirsi Corporation's new integrated library system.

- ♦ Redesigned “SConnects@the Library” Web site to assist South Carolina public librarians in providing useful Internet links for their patrons.
- ♦ Partnered with the University of South Carolina – School of Library and Information Science on two major projects, Economic Impact Study of South Carolina Libraries and Palmetto and Pine Recruitment (supports the education/recruitment of public librarians to serve in rural communities).
- ♦ Participated in regional legislative workshops sponsored by the Association of Public Library Administrators (APLA).
- ♦ Implemented the use of Interagency Mail Service for substantial postage cost savings for statewide delivery of interlibrary loan materials;
- ♦ Accompanied the agency’s Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) state programs consultant to site visits at various public libraries using Library Services and Technology Act funds. This was IMLS’ first site visit to South Carolina public libraries.
- ♦ Began the planning and initial training for the implementation of a State Library Virtual Reference service, “Ask A Librarian.”
- ♦ Hosted the agency’s first annual Staff Appreciation Day.
- ♦ Received the 2003 Francis Keppel Award for excellence in library data collected, edited and submitted to the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES).
- ♦ State Library staff member honored by the South Carolina Library Association (SCLA) with the SCLA Lifetime Achievement Award
- ♦ State Library awarded $217,000 Staying Connected technology training grant from the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation to provide funding to public libraries.
- ♦ The State Library’s Literary arts partnership with the Humanities Council and the Arts Commission was honored with a nomination for the prestigious Elizabeth O’Neill Verner Governor’s Arts Award for its production of the South Carolina Literary Map.

Agency History/Legal Mandate

The South Carolina State Library is an independent state agency governed by a board of seven members appointed by the Governor, with one member from each Congressional District and one from the state at large. Members serve five-year terms and may be reappointed.

Title 60, Chapter 1 of the Code of Laws of South Carolina, provides statutory authority for the South Carolina State Library. Originally authorized in 1929 and known as the State Library Board, the public library extension agency was first funded in 1943. It was redesignated the South Carolina State Library with a broad range of responsibilities by Act 464 of 1969. The legislation was recodified, and Act 178 of 1985 authorized new functions.

The South Carolina State Library complies with the agency's central legal mandate, adheres to all federal guidelines and regulations that govern its Talking Book Services program, administers Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) funds in accordance with federal regulations, and complies with occupational safety and health regulations adopted by the SC Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation (SCLLR).

II. ACTIVITIES – FY 2004

Strategic Goal A: “Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina.”

State Library Key Customers

- ♦ Members of the General Assembly, Governor’s Office, other elected officials and state government employees
- ♦ Multi-type libraries (public, school, special and academic)
- ♦ Citizens with disabilities
- ♦ Citizens of all ages and interests

Use of State Library materials and resources is available to all citizens. Direct loan is available to state government employees and members of the General Assembly. The general public borrows State Library materials by using the interlibrary loan services of local libraries.

The South Carolina State Library provides interlibrary loan services to supplement the local resources of South Carolina libraries. General and special collections have been developed primarily to support the needs of public libraries throughout the state. Materials are lent to public, academic, special, and high school libraries in South Carolina, as well as to libraries outside the state. Interlibrary loan requests are transmitted to the State Library primarily through the South Carolina Library Network and the Online Computer Library Center (OCLC).

The State Library’s Talking Book Services program serves South Carolinians unable to hold a book, turn pages, or see normal size print and those with learning disabilities or temporary disabilities caused by injury or illness.

Usage Statistics FY 2004

Registered Borrowers	Total
State Government Employees	6,069
Libraries	298
Talking Book Services Users	8,650

Circulation	Total
State Government Service	30,113
Libraries	19,915
Talking Book Services	262,736

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

State Library Collections

The State Library is committed to maintaining appropriate collections of library materials in various formats to supplement the collections of other libraries in the state and to meet the research and informational needs of state government. Due to a decreased materials budget, 4% fewer items were added to the collection than in the previous year. The State Library had no state funds to purchase materials. Also the increasing number of documents published in electronic format by state agencies led to a decline in number of printed materials added to the state documents collection.

The Research Collection is composed mainly of non-fiction books, periodicals, newspapers, state and federal documents, audiovisual materials and electronic resources. This centralized collection eliminates the need for local libraries and state agencies to expend limited budgets acquiring expensive and specialized information materials.

The Talking Book Services Collection contains cassette, large print, Braille and disc (records) reading materials for all ages. A descriptive video collection provides blind and visually impaired library users with access to recreational movies (equivalent to those enjoyed by sighted users of public library video collections).

The Grants Research Collection includes printed directories, guides and electronic resources that assist nonprofit organizations, government agencies, and citizens in locating grants. The State Library is an official cooperating collection of the Foundation Center's nationwide network.

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

South Carolina Fiction Cooperative Collection, a joint venture of the public libraries of the state and the State Library, contains older fiction titles identified as the "last copy" in a particular public library's collection. This collection ensures continued access, through interlibrary loan, to citizens in need of older fiction titles. For FY04, the State Library added 1,491 last copy fiction titles to its collection bringing the total to 31,945.

Early Childhood Teacher Resource and Video Collection, a service that provides videotapes on early childhood development and education for childcare teacher training. Public libraries borrow these materials on behalf of local childcare staff and others working with young children. Many of these videos may be used to meet state requirements for annual training hours, while others are more useful for parents and parent groups.

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

DISCUS – South Carolina's Virtual Library

To ensure that all South Carolinians have equal access to information and learning resources, the South Carolina State Library administers DISCUS – South Carolina's Virtual Library. DISCUS provides free access to subscription Internet databases through all of the state's public libraries, public schools, SACS-accredited K-12 private schools, and public and private colleges. South Carolinians may also access these databases from their homes or offices twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. The State Library provides training and support to library, curriculum resource and technology staff of participating institutions, which helps them make effective use DISCUS and promote the service to their users.

Through DISCUS, citizens served by small schools and libraries have access to the same high quality resources as those served by larger, more prosperous institutions. In addition, central purchase and coordination of DISCUS allows South Carolina institutions to realize an annual "cost avoidance" in excess of $22 million. DISCUS is funded by the state's K-12 Technology Initiative, with supplemental funding by the federal Library Services & Technology Act (LSTA).

South Carolina residents obtained over 6 million items through DISCUS, an 11% increase over the previous year. New databases were added to improve access to literature and newspaper content. DISCUS, through its Database Assessment Committee, used feedback from a statewide trial on a newspaper database, to guide its decision to add The State newspaper database.

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

DISCUS use by K-12 schools represented 47% of total usage, exceeding use by colleges for the first time since the inception of DISCUS in 1998. Enhancements to the DISCUS Web site for schools and targeted promotion, training and support efforts contributed to a 50% increase in use by K-12 students, teachers and parents.

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

In addition to being available at schools, colleges and public libraries, state residents access DISCUS at their homes and offices. DISCUS resources are used 24/7.

Strategic Goal A: “Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina.”

Information Services

The State Library has a highly skilled research and technical staff to assist users in locating information to meet their needs. Research librarians conduct complex searches in response to questions from state government employees and the general public. They also provide training for state government employees in using the State Library’s resources, which includes informational databases. In addition to the DISCUS databases that are available statewide, the State Library provides office/home access to 12 other subscription databases for state government employees. These, plus three additional databases, are also available for use by the public on site at the State Library.

South Carolina State Documents Depository Program

The South Carolina State Library administers the State Documents Depository System. It ensures citizens access to state government publications. State agencies supply the State Library with 15 copies of publications. The State Library catalogs and processes the publications, retaining three (3) copies for its permanent collection. The remaining copies are distributed to the Library of Congress and eleven participating in-state depository libraries: Clemson University; Coastal Carolina University; College of Charleston; Francis Marion University; Greenville County Library; Lander University; South Carolina State University; Spartanburg County Library; USC-Aiken; USC-Beaufort; and Winthrop University.

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

For FY 04 the State Library added 2,999 state documents to its collection bringing the total to 87,979. Staff identify electronic publications, catalog them and make paper copies for preservation purposes. The South Carolina state documents collection remains the largest repository of official South Carolina state publications.

Talking Book Services

Citizens with physical disabilities require accessible collections that support recreational, professional and educational information needs. Adaptive support equipment, staff attuned to the needs of citizens with disabilities, and referrals to other types of disability services are also provided. The State Library actively promotes the program. In FY 04, 1,018 new customers were registered. At the end of FY 04, total registered readership increased by 2% over FY 03. The program consistently receives Library of Congress, National Library Service for the Blind and Physically Handicapped (NLS) compliance approval.

Staff provide customers with personalized service via contact by email, phone, on-site, fax, and regular mail. The program's toll-free number allowed staff to service more than 16,000 customer calls (averaging 1,908 per month) during FY 04, while more than 500 Talking Book Services customers visited the library for on-site service and other assistance.

During FY 04, 262,736 special format materials were provided to customers and more than 2,400 new or replacement talking book machines were assigned.

Volunteer Program

Volunteers play a vital role in providing library services to citizens using talking books as their primary mode of reading. During FY 04 an average of 17 volunteers per month contributed a total of 1,947 hours ($33,469) of service to the State Library. They promote talking book services, assist with planning and participation in the library's summer reading program for children with blindness and other disabilities, assist with collection weeding, narrate magazines and books, inspect recorded books, package cassette magazines, process materials for bulk mailings, and repair talking book cassette machines.

Volunteer narrators recorded issues of "Sandlapper" and "S.C. Wildlife" magazines; quarterly issues of the Talking Book Services department's newsletter; the book A Lucky Pair by Frances Dinknis, GAP Rider's Guide, a publication of the Greenville Transit Authority (GTA), produced at the request of GTA, and an audio version of the library's listing of titles in its described movies collection.

The Telecom Pioneers (formerly the Telephone Pioneers of America), a national organization, provide volunteer talking book equipment repair to the Library of Congress' nationwide network of libraries serving the blind. South Carolina's Pioneers, in FY 04, repaired 988 cassette players.

Strategic Goal A: "Provide information resources and library services to meet the needs of the people of South Carolina."

Strategic Goal B: “Provide statewide programs to support local library services.”

Library Development Services

General Consultation Services, FY 2004

A reorganization of consultant staff duties resulted in more effective delivery of services. Site visits, phone contacts, attendance at board meetings, correspondence, in-house consultations to library-related groups, and to public, school, academic, state and institutional libraries increased by 7%.

Continuing Education

The State Library provides a Continuing Education (CE) program for school, college, and public libraries, state government employees, and internal staff. Public Library staff attended 122 training events on various staff development and training topics such as: Bibliostat Connect Database, Outcome Based Evaluation, Tweens Services (Children and YA), Bookmobile Services, Branch Managers, Children’s Services, Collection Development, Interlibrary Loan, Reference Managers, Public Relations, Technical Services, System Managers, and Young Adult Services. Additionally, 150 trustees attended the 6th Annual Public Library Trustee Institute held in Columbia. These training opportunities enhanced the skills of 2,088 employees of school, college, and public libraries and state employees.

Strategic Goal B: "Provide statewide programs to support local library services."

The DISCUS "train the trainer" program had 42 sessions with attendance of 833 that included college and public library staff, school media specialists, and school technology and curriculum resource staff. The attendance figure represents a 37% increase over the previous year. The increase is attributed to improvements in training delivery.

Network Services works with the Continuing Education Coordinator to convene a Systems Managers Exchange. In FY04, 34 representatives from 25 public library systems attended. The agenda included a presentation on wireless networking; updates on technology by State Library staff; an open forum where spam, Microsoft updates, print management, and open source technology were discussed; and breakout sessions focused on various automation systems.

Strategic Goal B: “Provide statewide programs to support local library services.”

Gates Training Initiative sessions were held for public library staffs on Microsoft Office products that included Word, Front Page, Excel, Access, Publisher and PowerPoint. 224 students participated in 17 classes held in three regional locations: Greenville, Columbia, and Charleston.

The receipt of an additional Gates Foundation Staying Connected Grant for technology training will provide advanced technology training. Individual competitive grants were offered to public libraries to allow designated technology staff members to receive the training. Training for these individuals will begin and continue throughout FY 2005.

Children and Youth Services – Summer Reading Programs

One of the agency’s major contributions to the provision of children’s services is its coordination of a statewide summer reading program. “Step to the Beat...Read!” was the 2004 vacation reading program theme for children in Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Virginia. Children were able to join reading programs at any public library and earn rewards for reading during the school vacation. This joint partnership allowed the four states to share artwork and other materials. Over 78,929 of South Carolina’s children furthered the state’s literacy initiative through their participation. 119 more children participated in FY 2004 than in FY 2003.

Children and Youth Services – Partnerships

County libraries by state statute are represented on State First Steps County Partnership Boards. In FY 04, these collaborations continued. County libraries worked closely with school districts, parent educators, and childcare providers. Other local library programs included story hours in childcare facilities, training opportunities for childcare staff, and mobile library programs (bookmobiles that deliver materials throughout the community to where children and their families are located). Library-based programs funded by State First Steps expose children to age-appropriate literature, enhance childcare facilities by distributing books, and offer literacy-rich activities to families and to childcare programs serving children and families.

Public Library Construction

The South Carolina State Library assists public libraries with building and renovation projects, from the planning stage through completion. Public library construction and renovation is an ongoing challenge for library staff. During FY 04, Libris Design, a library facility planning information system and database, developed for California Public Library planners, was purchased with LSTA funds to support public library facility development statewide. Training was provided to public library staffs to ensure effective use of this powerful software. A Library Building Consultant is available to meet with and advise library staff, trustees, building committees, town officials and community residents. During FY 04, consultant services on building needs were provided for:

Abbeville County

Renovation of headquarters in Abbeville;
projected space needs to 2025

Strategic Goal B: “Provide statewide programs to support local library services.”

Funding Aid to Public Libraries: State, Federal and Other

State Aid regulations require that participating libraries provide countywide service, maintain levels of county funding, and meet certain standards of service. Qualifying libraries are required to develop strategic plans and may use State Aid funds to supplement staff salaries, purchase collection materials, purchase or lease equipment and computer hardware and software. Occasionally, state bond funds are designated for special local library construction projects and are placed in the State Library’s budget for disbursement.

In total, public libraries directly received $6.5 million dollars—54% of agency expenditures—through state aid, federal grants, capital improvement bonds and the education lottery. Fully 64% of the overall State Library’s general fund budget is pass through State Aid to public libraries. The State Library passed through to public libraries, statewide, $7,297,001 in state, federal and other funds.

Through the South Carolina Education Lottery Act, public libraries received $1.5 million in funding for technology improvements. Capital improvement bond funds of $829,447 were authorized and distributed for public library programs and services.

A $217,000 grant awarded to the South Carolina State Library by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, part of its Staying Connected grant program, provided technology training, support, and hardware and software upgrades to public libraries.

Strategic Goal B: "Provide statewide programs to support local library services."

Funding Aid to Public Libraries: State, Federal and Other (continued)

LSTA in South Carolina

The South Carolina State Library administers federal aid to South Carolina libraries under the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA -- P.L. 104-208). The purpose of the act is to:

- (1) To consolidate Federal library service programs;
- (2) To promote improvement in library services in all types of libraries in order to better serve the people of the United States;
- (3) To facilitate access to resources in all types of libraries for the purpose of cultivating an educated and informed citizenry; and
- (4) To encourage resource sharing among all types of libraries for the purpose of achieving economical and efficient delivery of library services to the public.

LSTA funds in South Carolina are used for:

- ◆ Electronically linking libraries with educational, social, or information services
- ◆ Assisting libraries in accessing information through electronic networks

Collaborations

The State Library works with other state agencies and organizations to enhance awareness of the important role libraries have in improving education and quality of life in South Carolina. FY 04 partnership highlights:

- ◆ The State Library continues to cooperate with the Office of the Chief Information Officer, State Budget and Control Board, to provide free Internet access to public libraries. South Carolina was the first state to have such access in every public library location in the state. This service permits public libraries to provide access to DISCUS (South Carolina’s Virtual Library) and other databases for patrons, as well as other services available over the Internet.

Strategic Goal C: “Serve as the advocate for libraries in South Carolina.”

- ◆ DISCUS supported South Carolina Educational Television’s (SCETV) Knowitall by providing a means for state residents to have secure access to SCETV video content licensed only for South Carolina residents. DISCUS also formalized its partnerships with SC Department of Education, SCETV and Medical University of SC by incorporating links to their sites on the new DISCUS K-12 site.
- ◆ The DISCUS Program Director consulted with the Partnership Among South Carolina Academic Libraries (PASCAL) Executive Director on a variety of database-related matters, shared needed technical information, served ex-officio on the PASCAL Consortial Purchase Committee as it planned a major academic virtual library endeavor, and coordinated a group purchase of the Online Computer Library Center’s (OCLC) FirstSearch databases for 16 colleges, providing a cost savings of about $50,000.
- ◆ The State Library continued its literary arts partnership with the Humanities Council and the Arts Commission that funds the position of Literary Arts Coordinator for the state. The partnership was honored with a nomination for the prestigious Elizabeth O’Neill Verner Governor’s Arts Award for the production of the “South Carolina Literary Map.”
- ◆ The Continuing Education Coordinator provided consultation services that led to the Association of Public Library Administrators’ (APLA) development of public library regional legislative advocacy education workshops.
- ◆ The Commission on Higher Education received $2 million of lottery funds for the PASCAL database project, and the State Library began talks about participation in the administration of the project.
- ◆ APLA initiated a letter writing campaign to thank the General Assembly for its support of South Carolina’s public libraries.

Strategic Goal C: “Serve as the advocate for libraries in South Carolina.”

Strategic Goal D: “Encourage cooperation among libraries of all types.”

The South Carolina Library Network (SCLN)

Network Services coordinates, operates and maintains the South Carolina Library Network – an Internet-based communications system designed and implemented by the State Library to facilitate statewide sharing of library resources and services.

To facilitate communication between the libraries and to support other programs, such as DISCUS, Palmetto Book Alliance and Friends of South Carolina Libraries (FOSCL), the Network Services unit manages electronic discussion lists. To date, there are 30 discussion lists.

Network Services provides remote authentication and access to DISCUS and other State Library electronic resources for state employees and government officials.

E-Rate

The State Library’s systems librarian works with the public libraries by providing guidance that assists them in taking full advantage of the Universal Service Support Mechanism (E-Rate) discounts. E-Rate is an adjunct to the Internet/Telecommunications Project, and it ensures that all eligible libraries and schools have affordable telecommunications access. During FY 04, public libraries applied for E-Rate discounts for telecommunications and for internal connections. Funds committed for Telecommunications were totaled at $198,443. An additional $427,524 was committed for Internal Connection discounts. The State Library’s work with public library directors resulted in a total of approximately $625,968 in E-Rate discounts for public libraries statewide.

Strategic Goal E: “Continuously improve State Library operations and services.”

South Carolina State Library Financial Performance

Even after experiencing FY 04 general fund interim budget reductions totaling more than $67,675, the State Library’s overall financial performance remained sound. Total agency expenditures were $13,541,527—a 4% decrease from FY 03. Public libraries along with K-12 school media centers and academic libraries received direct benefit from DISCUS-South Carolina’s Virtual Library, a $2 million program comprising 15% of agency expenditures. $1,633,000 was transferred to the State Library for DISCUS through the K-12 Technology Committee.

Network Services

Network Services provides oversight and coordination of technology for the State Library and for public libraries. It supports the structure and foundation for most of the agency’s operations, programs and services. Agency security and virus protection are weekly, if not daily concerns for the staff. The highly trained staff consists of a systems librarian, two information technology specialists and a web administrator. Additionally, the Network Services unit consults with the public library systems about network upgrades and assists in troubleshooting network connectivity problems. Network Services also maintains a computer lab for providing continuing education for agency staff, state government employees, local library staff, and DISCUS training.

During FY04, the agency migrated from the Data Research Associates “Classic” automation system to Sirsi’s Unicorn integrated library system. The move resulted in new functionality in the online catalog, WebLION, for our patrons, including the ability to place Interlibrary Loan requests, and to renew and request items online. For Collection Management Services, the new system provides the ability to transmit electronic purchase orders and invoices for acquisitions.

Network Services develops the agency’s technology plan. New trends in the technology arena that can be adapted to forward the agency’s mission are considered. The systems librarian, in coordination with the Director of Library Development Services, developed a technology planning workshop and a plan template to assist public libraries with planning for and utilizing technology. As a result, written technology plans were collected from every public library system in the state. The plans were required to meet the Universal Service Support Mechanism’s certification standards for E-Rate discounts.

Web Administration

The agency’s web site is a major information source. Specialists from each department develop content that enable the public to make effective use of the vast information available on the Internet. To assist South Carolina’s public librarians in providing useful Internet links for their patrons, the State Library manages SConnects@the Library, a specialized reference area for state government employees that provides organized links to information that assists them in meeting the need of South Carolina’s citizens. SConnects@the Library can be used as a home page on public library workstations. The DISCUS web site is updated several times a week with new information about using the electronic databases, troubleshooting techniques, training classes and more.

Major improvements to the agency’s web site in FY04 include revisions to the Funding and State Aid to Public Libraries page, the addition of a new page for South Carolina public library trustees, the redesign of the SConnects@the Library web site, and a new user-friendly web address, www.statelibrary.sc.gov.

To promote and encourage statewide reading and literary activities, the agency maintains the web site for the Palmetto Book Alliance, a cooperative project of South Carolina State Library and the University of South Carolina’s School of Library and Information Science.

Strategic Goal E: “Continuously improve State Library operations and services.”

Staff Development

The agency has a formal training and orientation program for staff. The program is coordinated by the Staff Development Team, which is chaired by the Continuing Education (CE) Coordinator and is supported by a staff development and training plan. The plan is reviewed regularly, is posted on the agency intranet, and emphasizes identification of opportunities that can provide job performance improvement. The CE coordinator monitors the implementation of the plan.

Responsibility for the implementation and success of the staff development and training program is shared by the Management Team, the Continuing Education Coordinator, the Staff Development Committee, library departments, supervisors, and individual staff members. Quarterly staff meetings allow staff to communicate concerns and provide suggestions for improvement and sessions for employee enrichment and skill building are offered. Employees and their immediate supervisors assess needs and communicate and identify opportunities for professional growth. Supervisors provide ongoing task-specific training. Managerial departmental needs assessments provide information that is used to target continuing education opportunities. Effectiveness of training opportunities is assessed through the use of a staff development evaluation report form and through one-on-one follow up with participants and supervisors.

Planning for performance excellence, although at times difficult due to budgetary limitations, is of key concern. Creative management, coupled with the efforts of a dedicated staff, has allowed the agency to experience progress. Because the State Library sponsors a number of continuing education opportunities for public library staff and state government employees, State Library staff are able to take advantage, at no additional cost to the agency, of these opportunities. During FY 04, they included DISCUS database training activities, procurement, and a special staff development day with sessions on how to manage stress and maintain energy and optimism. Staff were involved in 84 training events, an increase of 75% over FY 03.

The agency's automation system (SIRSI) upgrade and migration, afforded the opportunity for staff of Information Services, Collection Management Services, and the Information Technology Departments to acquire new technology skills. Software vendors provided training sessions both on site and via distance education. Additionally, the DISCUS and Library Development and Information Services staffs received virtual reference software training. Upgrades to the Microsoft Operating System also realized the beginning series of training sessions on MS Windows XP for the Talking Book and Collection Management Services departments.

In FY 04, staff served as officers and on committees of organizations such as: American Library Association, South Carolina Library Association, South Carolina Association of School Librarians, South Carolina Chapter of the Special Library Association, Palmetto Archives, Libraries, and Museums Council on Preservation, South Carolina Society of Certified Public Managers, and the South Carolina Partnership for Distance Education. As the budget allowed, staff serving on committees and in officer positions attended annual conferences. Staff were also involved in collaborative ventures of benefit to the programs and services administered by the agency.

Customer Needs Assessment

Customer key requirements are determined through various methods. Customer satisfaction is measured through personal contact, monitoring of relevant publications, evaluation customer usage statistics and survey/needs assessments results, and through informal networks and professional affiliations. Internally, work teams, provide administration and departmental managers with critical feedback for evaluation of existing programs and services.

Data is used to: determine service adjustments; determine selection of library materials; target funds; assess the quality and effectiveness of local library services, determine areas for improvement; develop a varied calendar of continuing education training events; identify and address training and promotion needs for DISCUS; and as a basis for planning.
